Agentic Software Development

Meta, Google, Amazon…

No one would hand-write code anymore

Everyone runs a team of 24/7 agentic interns

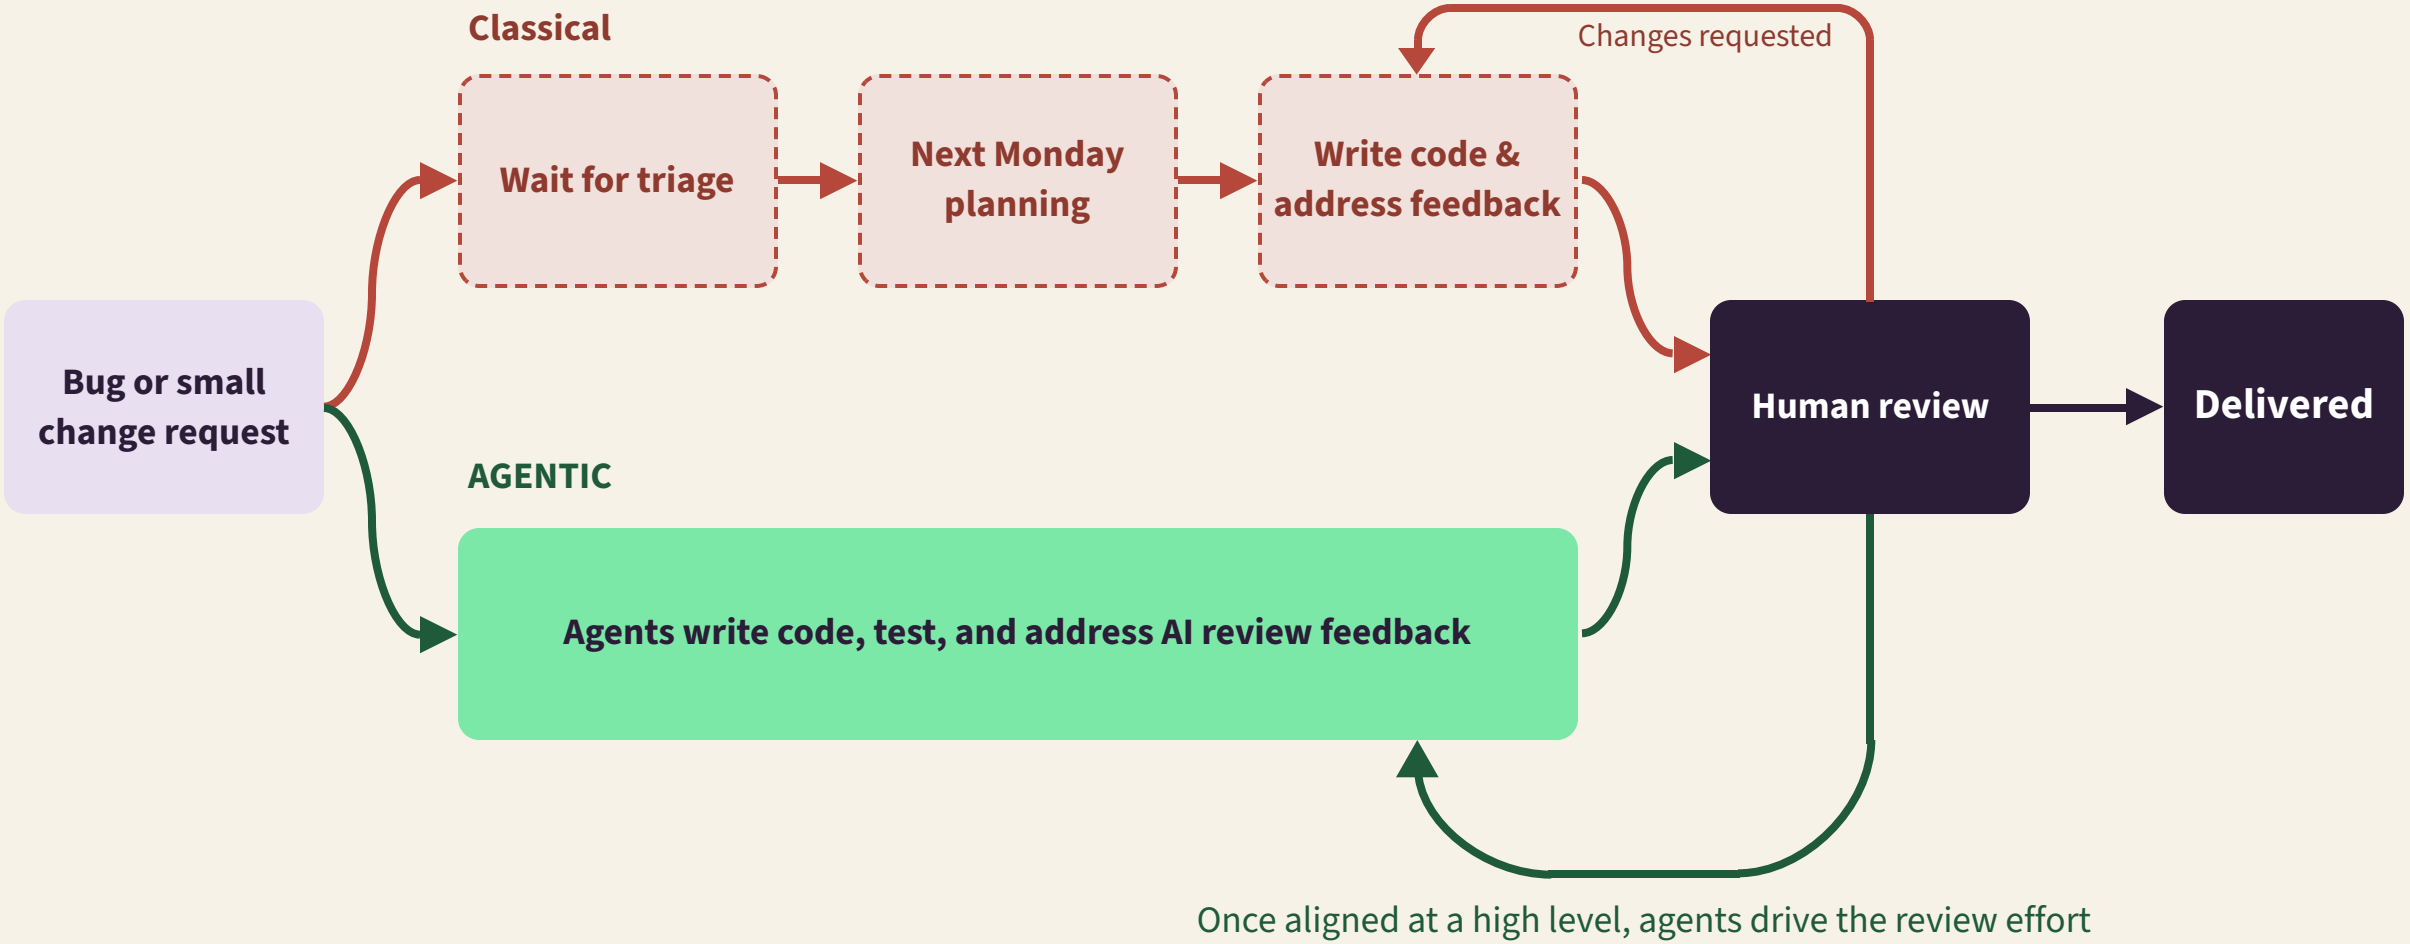
Way shorter bug-fix to deploy turnaround

Developers are now Architects and Reviewers

Agents write, test, document and coordinate project management

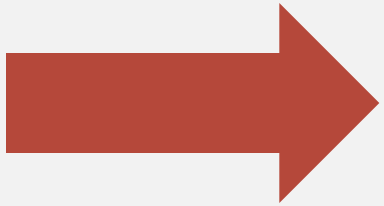
Fewer queues. Faster iteration.

Product and QA drive small changes through agents, with human approval before delivery.

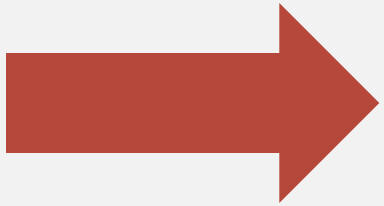


Each arrow = a step that depends on human availability and may require a meeting.

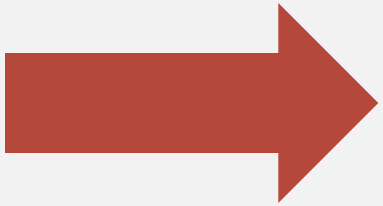
Each arrow depends on



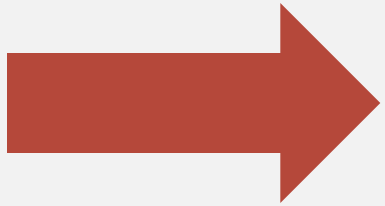
Someone available to sync



Someone available to do the work



No higher priority interruption



Cost of context switching

AI outperforms humans in

PR review

Implementation, not architecture

Documentation drift prevention

Simple changes and bug fixes

Security scans

Thoroughly

Being available

“AI is a poor architect, but an excellent bricklayer.”

We bring FAANG-style agentic workflows to your team.

Our proprietary Agentic Development Framework

Drawn from our experience in production

Planning bots

Triage and find items that don't require a human.

On-call bots

Investigate incidents and propose fixes.

Review bots

Check PRs before human approval.
